

YOUR VISION. INFINITY is ready to help you quickly develop a virtual event designed around your purpose and objectives, using easy to navigate platforms and tools to engage our online attendees.

OUR EXPERTISE. INFINITY is a woman-owned small business serving the Federal Government and scientific research community for more than 30 years. In addition to our in-person events, our team has successfully provided quality virtual conference support to clients since 2012.

At INFINITY we've brought together a group of people with real-world experience and diverse talents who share our values and passion for delivering impactful results. We're experts at connecting you with your stakeholders and customers through strategic thinking, and innovative, budget-conscious approaches, backed by technology. When you choose to work with us, you'll be working with a team that's hand-picked for you, based on your specific needs and desired outcomes. We bring to every project our culture of accountability, active listening and consistent communication.

Proven Experience

- Transitioning to an immersive virtual experience from a 1300+ in-person research conference, including simulative sessions, networking rooms, exhibit hall and poster presentations.
- Weekly scientific webinars, with over 1000 registered participants each year.

POWERFUL RESULTS. Whether you want to go completely virtual or host a hybrid conference, INFINITY will guide you and facilitate the entire process. We'll provide the analytics for attendee participation and engagement within the virtual environment; collect and analyze attendee feedback; and perform ROI analysis to help you prepare for your next virtual event.
