Infinity Conference Group Announces New President

[Herndon, VA] - Infinity Conference Group, Inc. (INFINITY), a leading event management company, is pleased to announce the appointment of its new President, Ayesha Navagamuwa. This strategic leadership change comes as part of the company's commitment to sustainable growth, innovation, and delivering an exceptional service experience to our clients and partners.

Formerly the Vice President of Operations and Strategy, Ayesha will assume leadership responsibilities across all aspects of INFINITY's corporate operations. With an impressive track record in the industry and a deep understanding of the evolving business landscape, Ayesha Navagamuwa brings a wealth of expertise to the role. Under her guidance, INFINITY is poised to continue its tradition of excellence.

Ayesha commented, "INFINITY has a history of providing excellent professional services and handling each project with care and attention. I am excited to build on Doreen's achievements over the past 32 years and together with our dedicated team continue to uphold our high standards in delivering services to clients that make a positive impact in the world."

Founder and CEO, Doreen Albertson, expressed full confidence in the selection of Ayesha Navagamuwa for the position. "When Ayesha joined INFINITY over seven years ago, it was evident that she had what it would take to assume the helm of INFINITY. She and I have worked closely together for the past several years to get to this point and now she is more than ready to steer INFINITY to new heights. I am especially grateful that she will carry on the legacy of the company's culture and business with the utmost commitment to its clients and employees."

While Ayesha assumes her new role, Doreen Albertson will remain with the company as Chairman and CEO to assure a seamless handover of responsibilities and a smooth transition. Doreen indicated that "she is excited to witness Ayesha plan for the future with an eye toward quality and sustainable growth in mind."

The entire INFINITY team is enthusiastic about continuity of the company with this leadership change and the prospects it brings. The company reaffirms its dedication to delivering exceptional events and fostering strong relationships with clients and partners.
